- The Information Service offers free information on a wide range of subjects including health and leisure services, Council services, social & community care, and local voluntary services. Please use our freephone number 0800 917 9830 to find out more
- Our Volunteers help us make a real difference to the lives of older people in Hackney. They provide social support to isolated older people as well as taking part in a host of other activities.
- The Health Links Project advises people on benefits, health and housing issues. Home visits can be made and an advice session is held at different health centres in Hackney.
- Hackney Silver Surfers aims to increase the use of computers and the internet by older and disabled people. It provides free training courses and drop-in access to computers at centres around Hackney.
- Agewell aims to improve the health and well-being of Hackney residents aged between 50 and 65. It continually develops services and activities in response to what people say they want.

- The Council for Older People raises issues and comments on policies and services in Hackney, ensuring that decision makers take older people's views and concerns seriously.
- The Older People's Reference Group aims to bring the older person's perspective to the work of health and social care providers in Hackney.
- The Woodberry Down Project provides support to older people on the Woodberry Down Estate during the regeneration programme.
